Letter to Members

From Mariann Byerwalter and Darryl Button

For nearly 160 years, Pacific Life has existed for one enduring reason: to provide Confidence for Generations.

In a world defined by change and uncertainty, that purpose anchors who we are, shapes how we anticipate and meet customer needs and guides every promise we make.

In 2025, Pacific Life delivered on those promises with clarity and conviction. We achieved record results, expanded into new markets and invested in the capabilities that will support our customers and policyholders for decades to come. We delivered $25 billion in promised benefits, fulfilling our commitment to serve individuals, families and institutions across every stage of the financial lifecycle.

Our Performance Reflects the Strength of a Diversified, Purpose-Built Portfolio

This was a year of transformation in action. Growth across our businesses drove record assets and investments, including $40 billion in new investments, reinforcing our ability to scale and support long-term commitments.

We led the industry in life insurance sales, finishing number one in LIMRA rankings with $776 million in total sales. Success spanned our full product suite – universal life, indexed universal life, variable life and term life – and was amplified by an omni-channel distribution model designed to meet customers where they are.

In annuities, we regained market share and earned a top 10 LIMRA ranking with $16 billion in total sales. The completion of our product suite with our registered index-linked annuity (RILA) offering, launched in 2024, generated more than $2 billion in sales and strengthened our position in one of the fastest-growing segments of the market.

We expanded our institutional reach by entering the jumbo pension risk transfer market with our first $1 billion transaction and deepened our presence in the defined contribution lifetime income space, helping address one of the most pressing challenges facing retirees today: dependable income for life.

Our reinsurance business demonstrated the power of global diversification and scale. We completed our largest-ever $1.4 billion reinsurance transaction, expanded our savings product reinsurance offering in Japan, executed several longevity transactions in the Netherlands, grew our protection reinsurance presence in India and expanded Capital Solutions globally. These achievements affirm Pacific Life’s role as a trusted global risk partner and a provider of solutions to life insurance and reinsurance companies.

Our newest division, Workforce Benefits, delivered tenfold growth in sales year over year, underscoring both the demand for our solutions and the scalability and future growth of our operating model.

Our financial strength foundation remains strong, supported by consistently high ratings from the major independent rating agencies. As a mutual company, we focus on the long term to maximize customer value and meet the needs of our policyholders for generations to come.

Building for the Future

We continue to invest in the future of Pacific Life by building modern, scalable digital capabilities. Through targeted investments in our people and in generative AI, we launched new internal tools to enhance customer experience in our life and annuity businesses and strengthen underwriting capabilities in Workforce Benefits. These tools increase speed and efficiency across new business acquisitions, customer service and back-office operations, while enabling us to test, learn and scale innovation across the organization.

We are equally focused on investing in our people, recognizing that attracting, developing and retaining exceptional talent is critical to our long-term success. We recently announced Charlotte, North Carolina as our third U.S. location and talent hub to support our growth, and we are committed to equipping our global workforce with the skills, tools and experiences needed to innovate, adapt and deliver on the promises we have made to our policyholders.

Throughout this transformation, our purpose and values have remained constant. We are honored to be recognized by Ethisphere as one of the World’s Most Ethical Companies for the ninth consecutive year, reflecting our commitment to integrity, accountability and responsibility. We invested $9.7 million in our communities and expanded volunteer efforts globally – living our values through action.

Both Dwight Decker and Dean Yoost retired from the board of directors in May. With a combined 41 years of service on our board, we thank them for their valuable leadership and guidance.

We are proud of what we have accomplished and are confident in the path ahead. Guided by purpose, strengthened by performance and grounded in our values, Pacific Life is well positioned to deliver confidence, certainty and lasting value – for today, tomorrow and generations to come.

Our Purpose

Providing Confidence for Generations

For nearly 160 years, Pacific Life has helped individuals, families and institutions plan for what matters most, today and far into the future. Our purpose is simple yet profound: to provide confidence for generations.

Confidence is earned. It is built over time through consistency, integrity and action. It is the confidence our customers feel knowing that Pacific Life will be there when they need us most — to protect a family, secure a retirement or meet long-term financial commitments.

Our purpose demands that we keep those promises through changing markets, evolving technologies and new generations of customers. Every decision we make is guided by a long-term view and a responsibility to deliver on what we've promised, today and tomorrow.

At the heart of that confidence is a promise.

We keep our promises so you can keep yours.

This isn't a slogan. It's who we are.

Pacific Life has always been a company that keeps its promises to policyholders, partners, employees and communities. That commitment is the foundation of trust, and trust is what enables confidence to last across generations.

Confidence for generations isn't built by words alone — it's built by doing the right thing, year after year.

Purpose in Action

Our purpose comes to life through clear goals and values that guide how we operate, how we innovate and how we serve.

Across our organization, we are focused on creating value by:

- Supporting customers through life's most important financial moments
- Delivering long-term strength and resilience
- Operating with integrity, discipline and accountability
- Investing in the future through people, technology and capabilities

These goals reinforce one another. Financial strength enables innovation. Innovation improves experiences. Strong experiences build trust. Trust is what allows us to keep promises generation after generation.

A Mutual Commitment

As a mutual company, we take the long view. We don't manage for quarters, we manage for decades. That means disciplined choices: investing with intention, managing risk with care and putting strength ahead of short-term volatility. It's how we stay steady in uncertainty and why we can deliver confidence not only today but for generations to come.

We keep our promises by living our values in how we serve our customers, invest for strength, and show up in our communities, both today and for the future.

Our Values

As a purpose-driven organization known for doing the right thing, our values are the foundation that motivate and guide our actions. They are core to who we are and the standard that holds us accountable to our customers, people and communities.

Living Our Values

Values are most powerful when they're visible. Ours are reflected in how we serve customers, how we show up in our communities and how we steward the future.

PROMISE TO CUSTOMERS

Our Members

As a company built for the long term, we take pride in delivering on the promises entrusted to us for over 1 million members, often across generations. In one powerful example,

Pacific Life paid a life insurance death benefit in 2025 on a policy purchased in 1938, fulfilling a promise made 87 years earlier.

Building and strengthening powerful partnerships with financial professionals and distribution channels, further enabling consumers to access products in the ways they want.

Products

Creating new product solutions and simplifying existing ones to provide more value and flexibility to meet consumer needs and evolving expectations.

Pacific Life has been recognized by the Ethisphere Institute as one of the World's Most Ethical Companies® for the ninth consecutive year — a reflection of the integrity, accountability and responsibility that guide how we do business. This recognition highlights organizations that demonstrate strong ethical business practices and a sustained commitment to doing the right thing.

Attracting, developing and retaining exceptional talent is critical to our long-term success. By building a future-ready workforce, we strengthen our ability to innovate, adapt and deliver on our commitments now and for generations to come.

We are investing in our people by:

Our global workforce is empowered with the skills, tools and experiences needed to responsibly harness emerging technologies while staying grounded in our values.

One example is the in-house development of Find It Now, an AI-powered tool to help employees answer customer questions in real time.
